Synopsis: A Chilean actress (50) travels to Lisbon representing a film where she has a secondary role, regarding nobody else was available to go. In the Q&A in the Cinemathèque she doesn't know how to answer the audience questions. The next day she had plans to meet the city, but ends up with a Portuguese stranger in an abandoned area on the other side of the river.

Short Bio-Filmography: Dominga Sotomayor was born in Santiago de Chile in 1985. She directed the short films "Cessna" (2005); "Noviembre" (2007); "Debajo" (2007); "La Montaña" (2008) and "Videojuego" (2009), which have taken part in and received awards at several international film festivals. She has also participated in exhibitions in Santiago de Chile and London (Tate Modern) with video pieces and installations.
